Freshman Year

Fall 1970

Today it began . . . today I became a freshman. Four years of high school has begun. Waking up at 8:00 A.M., with nothing to do until 11:30. . . I became a freshman. I have to go to school from twelve noon until 5 at night, leaving the house at the hottest time of the day during the summer, and arriving home in the dark during the cold of winter. We are the first class to start its high school career on this double sessions system. We are the oldest in the school; at least we can feel superior in some aspect. I am a freshman. Glory, maturity and responsibility await me.

What happened? no glory, no maturity, and no responsibility.

"Everytime I ask for the moon, it gets larger and farther away."

I was lost, late and little. I could not find my homeroom, (they say it's somewhere in the new building), I couldn't reach my locker, and I was late for all of my classes. My ideas of four fun-filled, exciting years were shattered by reality: blue, green, and orange schedule cards and "see-me" slips from the Guidance. Apparently, since I'm in high school now, I'll be having all sorts of problems that I'll want to discuss with my counselor. To cope with all my high school "problems" study hall discussion groups were formed.

"If only I may grow firmer, simpler, quieter, warmer."

Since no one else wanted to, the counselor usually did all the talking. I don't think I'll want to go back to see him again.

My classes range from great to miserable. My gym class is the miserable one. We have to wear blue gym suits outside, and the boys can see us in those gross things - it's so embarrassing, I could die! I have Ancient History in the "Pit", room 16. It's underground, stuffy, windowless and it magnifies the noise. It's also home base for Mr. Frank's star debators. This year, the novice group took first place at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Everyone has to take these Health Classes. It's a combination of sex education, drug education and psychology. I really don't know what they expect to teach us.

Our studies are great. We can sit with our friends and talk. The Servomation machines serve coke, coffee, candy and chicken soup. I hope it continues this way for four years.

Getting into school is a problem at 12:00. The high school kids think they control everything. We practically have to fight them to get in. When I'm in high school, I intend to be decent to the junior high. Except for that, everything is great.

Winter

A group of kids O.D.'d on some pills, so the new thing is I CARE week. A program was launched and we are supposed to wear these cute red and white (our school colors) buttons that say I CARE. We're supposed to think seriously about drugs and then turn in our favorite pusher. At least the effort has been made.

Spring

We elected class officers today. This signifies the end of the old and the beginning of the new. Since we never got around to elections last year, this is a new experience. Jeff Buckley, Scott Clifford, Julie Brissette, and Jay Flint are the new class leaders. Next year should be interesting.

School ends today. Next year it's 6:00 A.M. and in with the older kids - Melrose High School - watch out! Next year I become a sophomore. "Becoming is superior to being."

Sophomore Year

Fall 1971

Today I woke at 6:00 A.M. No, not to see the sunrise, nor to watch the Today Show, but to go to school.

> "How many mornings, summer and winter, > before yet any neighbor was stirring about > his business I have been about mine."

I am late at 7:06 and out at 12:00. The whole afternoon is mine, to do with what I please.

My classes are again, nothing fantastic, and a month has passed with no great social happenings. So far the year is dull. At this point, I'm looking forward to the Thanksgiving Day football game, for want of more excitement.

Now that I'm officially in high school, I've joined lots of clubs in order to really belong. I am a member of Pep Club, G.A.A., Girls' Club, Drama Club, Modern Dance and the French Club. I wanted to join the Imprint staff but other sophomores had already filled the good openings, so I was out of luck. Pep Club is great. I wear a red sweater and my "spirit" button to all the games, and take the bus with all the other kids when they're away.

The Junior High kids are so juvenile. We have to fight them in the halls, fight them in the cafeteria lines, and shove them off the sidewalks to get home. When I was a freshman, I told myself that I'd be more considerate to the younger kids when I was in high school. But I know we were never that bad!

"They are everywhere, above us, to our left, on our right. They environ us on all sides."

Winter

Melrose entered the Regional Drama competition in March. Their production of "THE EFFECT OF GAMMA RAYS ON MAN-IN-THE MOON MARIGOLDS" won first prize. Melrose has always been known for fine drama productions. Freshman year, "A CHRISTMAS CAROL" was the amateurish play of the junior high. This year a scandle accompanied the publicity of "LOVERS". One morning in the cafeteria there were posters scattered all around the walls. The next morning they had disappeared! Evidently, they were far too erotic for the eyes of "kids". The posters are now a collector's item.

"When the play, it may be tragedy of life, is over, the spectator goes his way."

Spring

Our junior class officers were elected last week. I guess the class was dissatisfied with last year's results, so they elected three girls and one boy instead of sophomore years' one girl and three boys. The lucky four are Naomi Waka, Scott Clifford, Katherine Gouland and Lyn Simpson. They will be among the first class officers to work with our new principal, Dr. Anderson, who will replace A. Imrie Dixon, "old faithful".

Next year we will be juniors and in the upper echelons of M.H.S.

"The Past is but the beginning and all that is but the twilight of the dawn."

Junior Year

Fall 1972

It has started again. I have become an upperclassman. So what? We're not beginning, we're not ending, we're just there.

"Will it matter that I was?"

There is a new principal- he is reported to be a "new liberal." Will he effectively replace A. Imrie? Only time will tell and time is of the essence. Harry's libralism has brought us open activity periods... instead of sitting in homeroom from 11:00-11:55 - we can go home, work for an activity or make up tests. Seventy-five per-cent of the kids left the school for home to study – such dedication to learning!

Melrose High School was the subject of a Globe News Report. There were amazing insights into the real kids at my school – no one knew about widespread drug use, lovely clothes were in the majority, and everyone had school spirit.

"It is a school where the phrase 'school spirit' draws no snickers... it's still an honor to be a football player or cheerleader."

Just like the '50's. Praise was bestowed upon Harry Anderson, our "innovative new principal..." The article was none too well received at M.H.S.

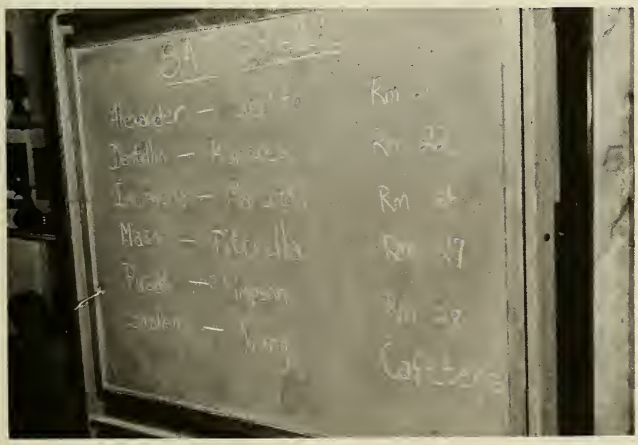
All my expectations have proved correct. Unlike the sophomores, we know what's going on. And unlike the seniors we'll be doing it again.

"What do you do here?"

We're supposed to be thinking about our futures, and looking through college catalogues – right!

My classes are not too exciting. I have U.S. History – what could be duller! And I have Chemistry – what could be harder!

"Sometimes I sits and thinks and sometimes I just sits."



I got my PSAT scores back today. Why did I take them, what did they prove? My scores are so low I'll never get into college. The guidance office keeps telling me not to panic 'til next year. Come May when I get the real things, (SAT's) I'll find out if I can make it to college. Hey, listen, I didn't want to go to college anyway.

To keep the students informed as to the state of M.H.S., a mock radio station was established — "Good morning and time for the 7/take/10 news!" Each morning from 7:15 until 7:19, music blared from the intercom and the teachers went crazy, but fortunately for us it acted as another alarm to wake up.

Winter

Someone had the great idea to hold a career day for sophomores, juniors and seniors. Offerings ranged from stewardess to politician. I signed up for law and got put in with McDonald's franchising complete with a discount hamburger card. To say the experiment fell through is an understatement. It was a nice thought, though.

Today was the Presidential election.

"Massachusettes - The ONE and ONLY."

Some of my friends campaigned for McGovern; at least some people care.

The Vietnam War "ended" today. There has been no dancing in the streets or flags flown; just a mass sigh of relief. Former President Johnson died less than a week too early to see it. Although it has ended, reports of fighting are still coming in. I wonder if

"It was a drama of many scenes and without an end."

Thank God it's over.

For years we have not known the future of M.H.S. The discussions and arguments of Mt. Hood, renovation or addition, have been raging for years.

"I sometimes despair of getting anything quite simple and honest done in this world by the help of men."

But finally there is a solution. A new high school is going to be built around the old one. But they are going to have to tear down some of the houses in the area. We will never be able to go to it, but our sisters and brothers will. They used to say that we would be the first graduating class from it; then they said we would be the last class graduating from this one. Although we won't get the credit of either of those, we will be the first class to have spent their entire four years of high school on double sessions, not too much distinction, but some.

Spring

The 18 year olds have officially received the right to drink.

"I suspect people of plotting to make me happy."

The POW's are on their way home and emotional reunions are now on television. Instead of soap operas, the tears now flow for something very real. The POW bracelets are now being removed for the first time. The waiting is over.

A couple of kids came to my history class to tell us about a new type of student government that would replace our great Student Council type government; I'm up for anything new. I thought the general consensus would be,

"Old deeds for old people, new deeds for new,"

but the vote went to the retaining of the present system.

"But we've always done it this way."

Expect the same tremendous advances next year as were made this year.

SAT's tomorrow. A computer will make the decision of whether I will attend Harvard, as I want, or work at Friendlies until I'm 35.

"It's really a wonder that I haven't dropped all my ideals because they seem so absurd and impossible to carry out."

I hope that computer likes me. The guidance office told us today that over the summer we must plan out where we will apply to college in the fall. Although I would sincerely like to listen to them, I think I'll wait 'til later.

Senior class officers were elected today. Richard Ducott, Stephen LoPilato, Kathy Finn and Charles Diana won. Maybe next year we will get something done after all.

We have something to keep us busy these last days of school. Since none of my classes are doing work anymore, we sit and watch the houses being torn down on Melrose Street.

"Progress is its product."

The bull-dozers and cranes really do a number on the buildings that were once homes.

"The houses being gone, he looked at what was left."

Today is the last day of school. When I walk out today, I will be a Senior, a Senior, a Senior.

"There is a new world coming tomorrow."

Senior Year

Fall 1973

Today is the beginning of the end, the day I have been waiting for since freshman year. This is the last time for everything; the last finding of homerooms, (we are back in the new building), the last filling out of schedule cards, and the last election of homeroom reps... our last chance.

"Each dawn is a new beginning." I was expecting awe and respect from the underclassmen. Instead, I'm still fighting my way through the lines in the cafeteria. Nothing has changed.

But wait – something has changed. The liberalism has ceased and the new regime has begun. Studies are supposed to be closed; no talking, eating only at specified times, and a waiting list to the bathrooms.

They've thrown a new one at us. It's called a G-block. Rather than letting us out early or allowing us to work for activities, we have an extra class. This revolving block forces us to suffer through the same class twice a day. I can't wait until I have English two times in the same day. We are living under strict discipline. Our senior year, our "easiest and happiest" is one of regimentation, restriction and construction noise. Thank god this is my last year.

At least there is something interesting to watch when I'm bored in my class. Instead of watching the destruction of houses, I can watch the birth of a new school. The horrible noises that we were subjected to at the beginning of the year, have ceased. It is an education to watch the construction workers and the pouring of their concrete. But in some of my classes in the new building I expect the crane to come crashing through the window and join in our class discussions.

This year we are all supposed to be able to drive to school but we have no parking lot. Because of the construction at the Towers Apartments, and here at the school, we have to park in the dirt lot next to the American Legion. I can't wait till it snows and we get to park on top of it. But the teachers don't have it any better. They have to park on the knoll and walk through the mud. At least faculty and students are equal.

I've got to start sending for applications to college. I don't even know where I want to go or what I want to do. It's too early to make such a life-time and crucial decision. Maybe I'll take a year off to catch up on lost sleep.

Class Night Committee was chosen last month and cap and gown measurements were taken today. I can't connect this person who is measuring my head with graduation in June, but apparently he's a small part in the complex machinery that goes into a high school graduation ceremony.

Our senior class officers have had more meetings in one month than they've had in the past three years. Again it's the old song and dance that:

> "We're gonna have the best senior year of any class to graduate from M.H.S."

At any rate, they've got the right attitude.

> "Where there is darkness, they talk of approaching light."

About a week after school opened this year, we began to have fire drills. Every few days the bell would sound and we'd all file out of class, supposedly with boy and girl leaders and three abreast. Some days, Dr. Anderson could be seen checking his watch to see if we were beating the Junior High's record time. Questions were always in the air. Could the boy and girl leaders fulfill their responsibilities? Would we be able to evacuate the building in less than two minutes? Would the intercom congratulate us or tell us to "try again tomorrow"? The challenge of the questions presented added suspense to the proceedings.

The class award sheets were passed out today. The unanimous reaction to the categories was negative. It's good to know that my class is one of tradition and sentiment.

"You devilish people on the LOG staff are rude to expect our class of '74 to put these low labels on any of our classmates."

"So thoroughly and sincerely are we compelled to live reverencing our life, and denying the possibility of change."

The Thanksgiving game is next week. Next year strangers will be cheerleaders, players and pep squad. This year they are friends. Next year I probably won't care if Wakefield wins or loses. This year I do.

I was conditioned to think that senior year was one big party with little studying to do. But these illusions have been rudely destroyed; my grades do count, my extra curricular activities do count and my class rank does count.

And I now seriously think of what graduation actually has in store for me. We depart from four safe and secure years of high school under the dominion of teachers and parents. Without the rolling of the red carpet and a blare of trumpets, but rather with a handshake and a pat on the back, we plunge into the hard cold world as it really is. It's frightening, in a way, to also think that we are the leaders of tomorrow.

Spring

Everything has been so busy. Christmas vacation, New Year's, February vacation, Easter vacation - they've all passed so quickly. I am not concentrating on the present, but the future - the-soon-to-be-future - Senior Prom, Class Night, and Graduation; and the-far-ahead future - the future right around the corner - maybe work, maybe college and maybe marriage. At this point, who knows?

"This is the only way,
we say; but there
are as many ways
as there can be drawn radii from one center."

Today it ends. Today I become a graduate. My friends, my activities, my parties — gone. Four years of high school ends. Maybe

"It's better to travel hopefully than to arrive."

I've been counting the days until today. I've been praying, wishing and waiting for today to come. Now, instead of anticipation and excitement, I feel lonely and isolated.

"The trouble with the future is it gets here before I'm ready for it."

I dread it. I'll probably find myself lost, late and little again.

"The wheel is come full circle."

Today it begins.

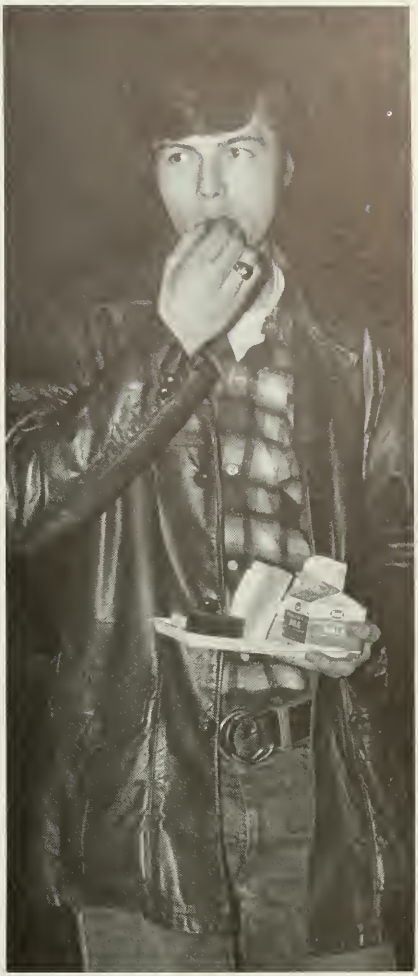
This is the game of LOG. Begin in September, end whenever you can. Move anyway possible to reach the deadline. Scream, cry, laugh, and enjoy. Pick a playing piece and a position, (Business, Advertising, Subscription, Literary, Layout, in-chief), and begin at start. Roll the die and live the experiences of LOG and life. End with special memories of all.



Melrose High School Student Government is composed of several different, independent organizations which work on basically the same issues and problems concerning school affairs. The Student Council is made up of the class officers of each class. This year's Senior Class officers, who traditionally provide the leadership for the rest of the council, have been very active raising funds and making decisions concerning class activities. The Student Congress is composed of representatives and alternates elected from each homeroom. They met several times concerning G-block, Class Night, class dues, and cap and gowns. The Student Faculty Advisory Board is composed of three elected members and two alternates from each class, a faculty member from each department, and a representative each from administration and guidance. SFAB investigates issues and recommends courses of action.

"We come not to be governed, but to govern."

THISTLE

REMEMBER ME

Remember me by candle light
when eyes all star glazed skys
By searching seas and drowning night when worlds are sleeping
By wilting skies brought by sunset, minds rest until stillness,
breaks
Remember me by candle light when searching souls can feel far away love
Remember me tonight.

Remember sun's rising shadows shown beneath sweeping skies
Clouds bring hearts together
How free flying birds are seen our watching eyes, once met
How spreading seas fall and then slide bringing lost sights of you closer.
Remember how candle light links
separate souls
Remember me, now.

Remember me when sun streaked skies
sink down to moonlit night
When sparkling eyes wander quiet lands under closed weary lids.
When sacred souls walk sterile sands
in unwaking hours
When dawn is lifted by holy hands
Remember me, then.

DEBATE TEAM

Debating, which has brought Melrose High national honors since 1960, reached a new apogee of activity during 1973-74. The team broke all previous records for the number of contests in which they competed, well over 700, and the number of trophies they won. Eighteen two-man teams competed again from Orono, Maine to Washington, D.C. As the defending New England champions, they debated the national topic, which was Guaranteed Annual Income. Their excellent record showed every indication that the club's traditions would endure for years to come.

D.E.C.A.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America are organizations for students who are planning a future in wholesaling, retailing and service businesses. The Melrose Chapter, with members holding jobs from florist to salesclerk, is one of twenty-seven in Massachusetts.

The D.E.C.A. group viewed the business world with a field trip to the Sheraton in Boston, and a great breakfast to top it off, under the leadership of "paternal" Mr. Quinn. Everyone, from doctors' assistants to hospital workers, looks forward to the distributive education class A and B blocks.

CHESS CLUB

". . . Check . . . Check . . . Checkmate!!"

"Oh, No!"

And the quiet, serene atmosphere of the chess practice is broken once again. The young chess player finds the taste of defeat very bitter, yet he knows he will soon have a chance for sweet revenge.

The Chess Club plays its best players interscholastically in the North Shore Chess League. Under the direction of Mr. James Morrow, the Chess Club serves as a means for the members to become more proficient in the game.

ITALIAN CLUB

Il circolo italiano, sotto la direzione della signora Marie Nuzzo, invita a tutti gli studenti che studiano l'italiano di participare. Lo scopo del circolo è d'informare i soci della cultura, le usanze a la lingua intaliana. Al mese d'ottobre i capi sono stati nominati e hanno incominciato immediatamente a fare le preparazioni per un viaggio in Intalia ad Aprile. Riguardo alle altre attività sociale del circolo, abbiamo avuto una colazione a un ristorante italiano, una festa di Natale, cantando dei cantichi italiani, auche conilcibo italiano. Più tardi abbiamo frequentato un cinema italiano. Ora prepariamo per la fine dell'anno scolastico — un banchetto italiano:

Essendo nel secondo anno, il club italiano ha eseguito tante cose piacevoli. Siamo sicuri che l'anno prossimo riuscirà con ottimo successo.

HONOR SOCIETY

After a delayed start, the honor society's first meeting was conducted in the late fall by Dean Kerrigan. Rhonda Ramsdell was elected President, Richard Hansen, Vice President, and Patricia Tully, Secretary, after an issue-heated campaign. (He's not here . . . he can't run). Last year's tutoring program was successfully re-instituted, involving the talents of many of the members. An original induction ceremony, climaxed by a group dinner, may start a new tradition for the M.H.S. Honor Society.

WINTER BALL

STARRY,
STARRY NIGHT
January 19, 1974

DRAMA CLUB

In the beginning, the Great Moose created the heaven and the earth. Now the earth was without form and void, and the Spirit of the Great Moose hovered over the face of the waters. And He said: "Let there be Theater." And there was Theater. And the Great Moose saw the Theater, that it was good.

And it came to pass that the Great Moose saw that the peoples of the earth were neglecting the Theater that He had made. And He sent down unto them His Son, the Albino Moose, to redeem the people and lead them back to the stage.

And, behold, the Albino Moose saved all of the people, even those from Melrose. And His disciples, Diane Marcotti, Hugh Metzler, Sharon Fogarty, and Maureen Shea, led the Drama Society of Melrose with the help of Michael Glynn, back to the stage. And to praise and honor the Albino Moose, Melrose entered Peter Ustinov's "Halfway Up the Tree" in the Regional High School Drama Guild Festival, and it was good.

The aim of the Girls' Athletic Association, this year, was to continue to sponsor girls' intramural athletics, but these plans were thwarted by closed activity periods. The members, however, were successful in their candy and memo board drives, the proceeds of which go to the scholarship and banquet funds. They hope that, next year, they can resume their traditional programs during activity period.

This year the Pep Club has been very successful in its efforts to build enthusiasm and support for all the teams of Melrose High. Under the determined direction of Gayle Turner and Dolly Trainor, they have unified the students to "cheer-on" their teams.

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club has also adorned the cafeteria with decorations this year . . . "sophomores' turn this week" . . . and even the athletes' front doors at 4 A.M.! Through their various fund raising projects . . . "want to buy a candy bar?" . . . they are able to sponsor the annual Sports Banquet.

GIRLS' CLUB

This year, under the supervision of Dean Kerrigan, the Girls' Club sponsored the annual Powder Puff Football Game to support the Permanent Scholarship Fund. The Club also held a dance at the Mt. Hood Country Club featuring a live band, Shadowfax. Although this social event of the year proved to be a financial disaster, it provided an enjoyable evening for all who attended.

PAL CLUB

Once upon a time, a school had a service club. This club's name was Pal because it was a friend to the community. The members helped the children in schools, tutored and served dinners with the Meals on Wheels program. And the members helped at school activities by having concession stands at the plays and other productions.

Some of the Pal members were Big Brothers and Big Sisters to children who needed some love and understanding. Once a week they would take them out and just be friends. They were very nice and had a Christmas party for the little boys and girls they befriended. Why did Santa have a square stomach?

And they lived happily ever after because they were good people.

MAJORETTES

If you want to be a majorette — CHEERS!!

Despite its lack of experience, the squad, headed by Debbie Dow and Louisa Bowe, provided excellent half-time and pre-game entertainment as a result of hours of dedicated practice.

The squad will never forget the Saturday morning practices, Friday routines, the bus rides, and the brunches. It was a first for crying in the cold, and frequent visits to the court yard.

Kneeling: Co-Heads D. Dow and L. Bowe. Standing: E. Petmezakis, G. Turner, L. Rand, A. Dolan, B. Blacher, K. Finn, D. Harris, C. Murphy.

CHEERLEADERS

Football season began it all,
Getting acquainted, learning the cheers.
Remember "1-2-3's", smile, hands on hips,
And our excitement as the games drew near.

Brunches, do-re-mi, pre-game, racoon coats,
Cheering the team all the way.
After "double sessions" the season came to a close,
With Sound of Football and Thanksgiving Day.

Hockey and Basketball kept us on the move,
Call "down the line" and "don't be late."
Painting signs, catching colds, cheering "fight, score, win!"
For two teams that were really great.

Thanks Mrs. Taffe, Mrs. Hume, and Pep Club,
On you we could always rely.
And "we love you Mr. Wakefield,"
'Cause you're such a dedicated guy.

So we'll always hold fondly,
Cheerleading '73-74,
And as wilted shakers sit idly on cracked megaphones,
We'll remember our seasons forevermore.

TUMBLERS

The MHS Tumblers added their own special touch of spirit to the half-time football shows for the second year. Carla Cann created the routines and Mrs. Kazzaz advised the club. That each girl did her part to perfect the routines was visible in the sparkling performances on the field.

SKI CLUB

Each year the Ski Club attempts to re-establish itself as an active group, and this year has been no exception. There is no formal club this year, rather a group of 30 enthusiastic skiers whose goal has been a February vacation trip to Innsbruck, Austria. Under the guidance of Miss Jane Gallacher, the group has directed all time and money toward the trip to Europe.

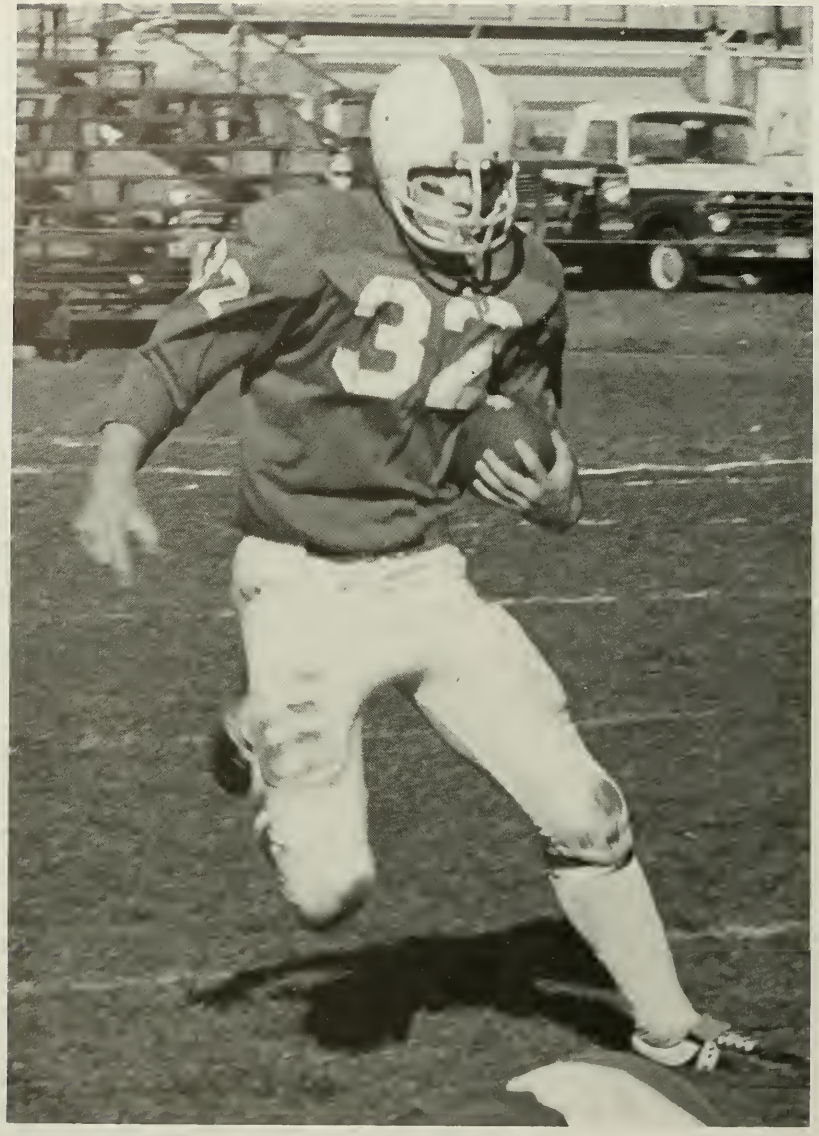
SOCCER

The soccer team, co-captained by Ron Armstrong and Bill Mulvihill, had a fairly good, but somewhat disappointing season, ending with a 7-8-1 record. This final record was somewhat deceiving, in that six of the eight losses were by a 2-1 margin. The most sensational game was the win over Wakefield, in which the goal tending was superb. Among the team records broken were most goals in a season, most shutouts, and most points in a season.



FOOTBALL

During the 1973 season, the Melrose High Football team had its ups and downs, but they never lost their spirit and determination to win. The offense was led by the exceptional talent of Captain John Hickey . . . "Out to lunch" . . . Ron LaVita . . . "Alex the Cat" and Jeff Buckley. The defense was led by Bill Fogarty . . . "Peter Pan" . . . Steve Colomey . . . "Hello Dolly" . . . Ken Pulsford, Peter Schluntz . . . "Eyes" . . . and Sean McGongale . . . "Barney Google." Led by Coaches J. Hoague and A. WRESTLING

"Get a spot on the mat."

This year the Melrose Wrestling Team continued its dominance in the Middlesex League. Led by seniors Steve LoPilato, Bill Mulvihill, Jay Hickey, P. Schluntz, and Bill Fogarty, the team has had great success.

Their most enjoyable moments were "feedbagging" after weigh-ins and they all remember cutting weight in the tropical wrestling room with Coach Bill.

"I'm telling you, Fogarty."

WINTER TRACK

The winter track runners had another fine season, finishing with a 7-2 record. Wakefield and Reading were the only teams to drop Melrose, but the lack of practising facilities and bad weather may have been a deciding factor in those meets.

Co-captains John Tsoukalas and Ed Ferreira had fine seasons, along with seniors Bryan Porter, and Dan Gunnery, and juniors Hal Moulton and Ken Driver.

Melrose made their finest showing in the State Meet in recent history, placing third in Class B.

On the whole, it was a good season for Coach McIntyre and the Raiders despite the two losses in league competition.

First Row: P. Babin, D. Silva, D. Barry, B. Wenner, A. Maccario, C. Reedy, J. Walsh, B. Moore. Second Row: E. Ball, G. Bakos, K. Akerley, G. Sheppard, T. Leach, E. Nee, S. Puzak, D. Oedel, C. Thistle, T. Gunnery, K. Driver. Third Row: Coach R. McIntyre, B. Porter, H. Moulton, J. Buckley, J. Cusolito, J. Tsoukalas, E. Ferreira, L. Baldwin, B. Guptill, P. Pierce, D. Gunnery.

MELROSE

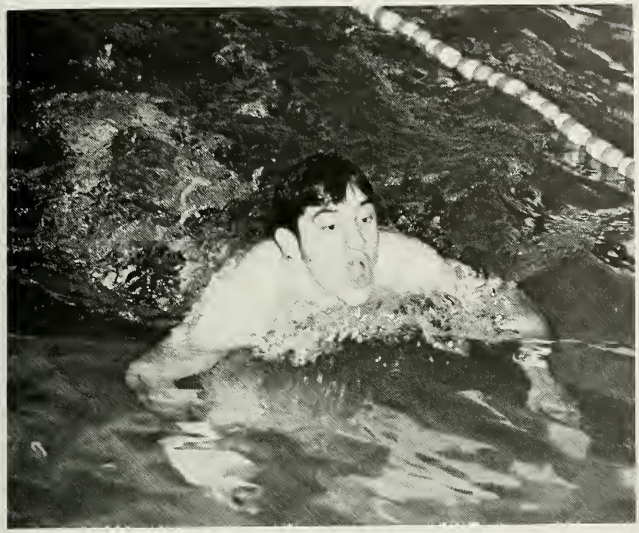
SWIMMING

The M.H.S. swim team, under the capable handling of Coach Robert Grant, put together its fourth championship season in five years. A new scoring system, which seemingly favored the larger teams with larger pools, proved to be a plus for the swimmers as they used it to their advantage and easily defeated their opposition. Led by Co-captains Ken Caiazzo and Dick Catania, they edged the Voke by a point, and then soundly defeated Charlestown and Malden. With record setting performances by Charles Gill and the fine jobs done by Alice Barber, Scott Hayward, Steve Justice and Dan Glynn, the team looks forward to an even stronger season next year.



BASKETBALL

Led by tri-captains Paul Barrett, Ron LaVita, and John Slattery, the basketball team figured to be one of the top contenders for the number one spot in the Middlesex League. Subs Ken Pulsford, Bill Ball, and Steve LeSaffre added that important bench strength which is essential in keeping team spirit up.

The fine rebounding and scoring of John Slattery, the excellent passing and shooting of Paul Barrett, and the tremendous rebounding ability and defense of Ron LaVita aided in outplaying many of the top teams and players in the league.

Ken Pulsford was very valuable in his role as a backup forward, and Bill Ball and Steve LeSaffre had that desire and hustle necessary for a winning team.

Juniors Don Chiuve and Bill Killilea helped the team tremendously and should excel even more next year.

Overall, it was a very satisfying year for the cagers.

Coaches Scibelli and Graham with tri-captains John Slattery, Ron LaVita, and Paul Barrett.

Kneeling: Coaches Scibelli and Graham. First Row: R. LaVita, P. Barrett, J. Slattery, K. Pulsford, P. Killilea, B. Ball, S. LeSaffre. Second Row: J. Smith, D. Chiuve, K. Charlton, P. Stanton, J. Jacobson, N. Jones.

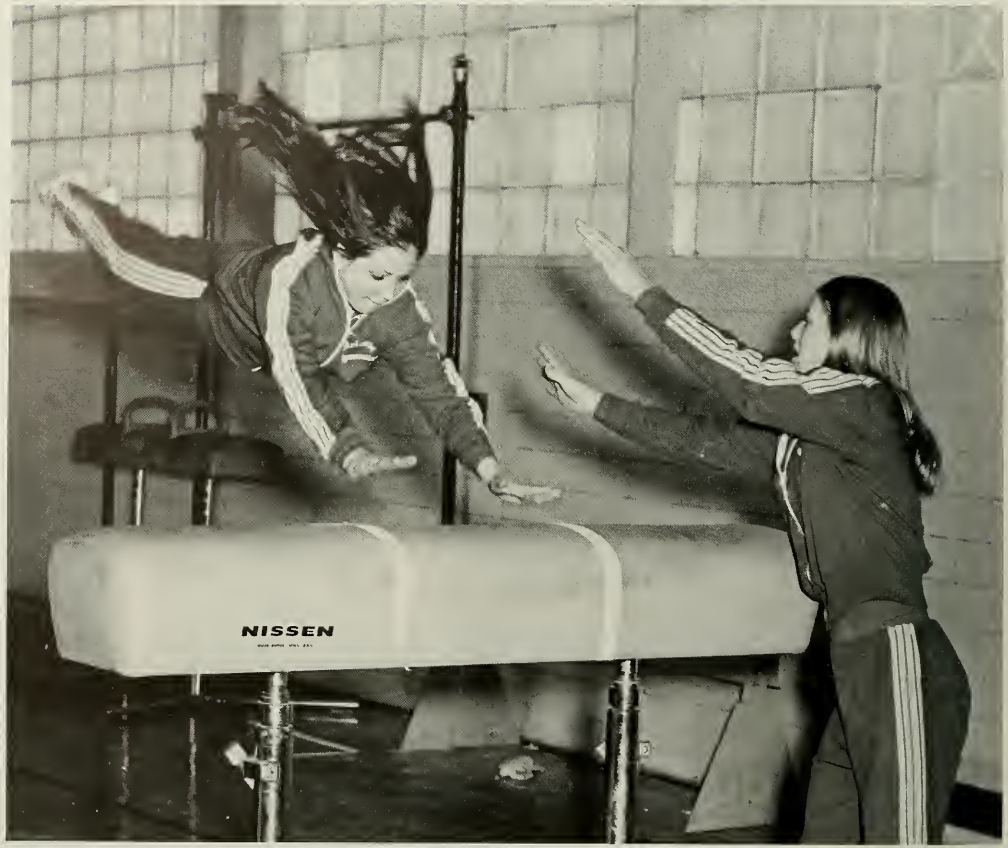
BASKETBALL

Although they didn't have a winning season, this year the Girls' Basketball team put a lot of hard work and effort into their games. Coached by Miss Josephine Chase and Mrs. Janet Hume, they ended their season with a record of 2-7. Captained by Lynda Fountain, Marjorie Blaney, and Janice Paleo, they led their team valiantly, despite their frequent loses.

VARSITY GIRLS' BASKETBALL

First Row: C. Roland, Tri-Captains: J. Paleo, L. Fountain, M. Blaney; J. Walsh. Second Row: Coach J. Chase, Manager M. Bertulli, S. Toney, K. Slattery, Assistant Coach J. Hume. Third Row: J. Wenner, P. Byrne, L. DiMeo.



GYMNASTICS

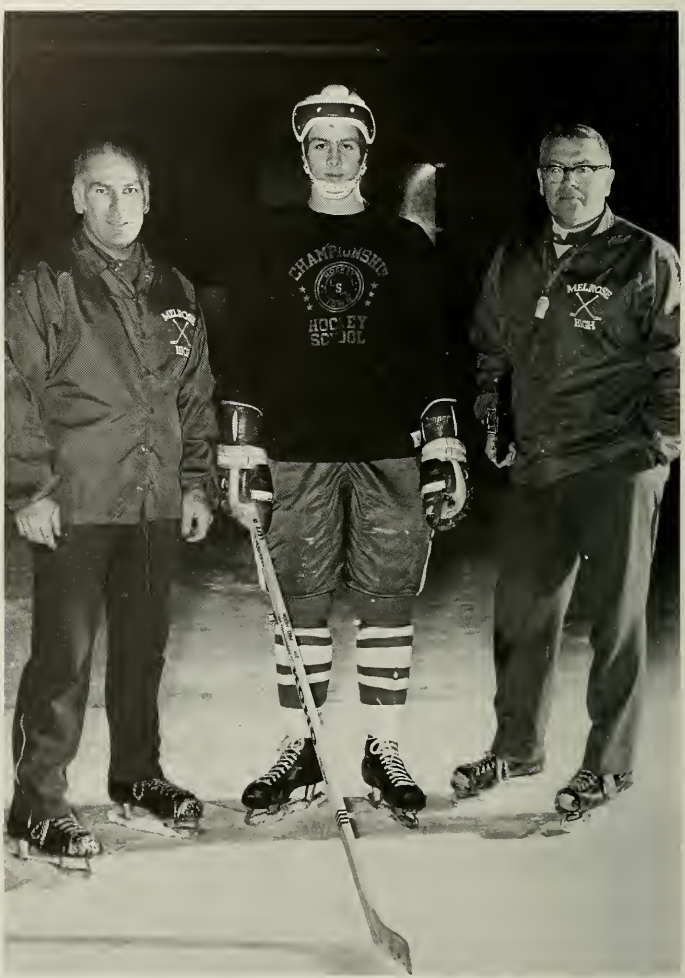
The girls' gymnastics team, in its fourth year of competition, completed a winning 1973-1974 season with a 5-4 record. Captain Meredith Bruno felt that this team was the best in M.H.S. history as far as team improvement and spirit.

Outstanding contributions were made by Sally Hoague, a first year vaulter, and Louisa Bowe, a senior vaulter. Both of these girls represented Melrose in the State Individual Meet at Burlington.

The three seniors on the team, Louisa Bowe, vaulting, Kathy Dugan on beam, and Meredith Bruno on bars, were all strong scorers.

Sitting: M. Bruno. Kneeling: D. Doucet, A. Nichols, L. Colvin, K. Dugan. Second Row: Assistant Coach White, M. Sundquist, A. Miliotis, C. Cann, G. Maguire, S. Voci, C. Cathcart, D. Salza, K. Lynch, Coach A. Taffe. Third Row: S. Butler, J. Corcoran, L. Bowe, C. Murphy, K. Palano. Fourth Row: L. DiDonato, J. Nasson, J. Nasson, S. Hoague.

HOCKEY



Coaches William Tryder and Henry Hughes with Captain Dennis Hughes.

First Row: M. O'Hara, L. Musto, D. Healey, Captain D. Hughes, R. McGee, S. Broussard, T. Baier, J. Ventola. Second Row: G. Nikitin, Coach W. Tryder, C. Tryder, B. Gregorio, R. Conway, B. Walker, Coach H. Hughes. Third Row: W. Huntress, D. MacLeod, K. Fagen, N. Murphy, D. Rand, B. Hughes, J. DeYoung.

With only five players returning from last year's team, the Melrose "six" proved to be a league contender once again. With their strong first line of Captain Dennis Hughes, Brian Hughes and Daryl MacLeod, they exhibited some good, fast hockey playing. Along with the second line of Don Healey, Mike O'Hara and Ted Baier, they were aided with a couple of very talented defensemen in Jim DeYoung and Chuck Tryder. In the twines was Jeff Ventola, who led the league with the least goals against.

FIELD HOCKEY

Coach Janet Hume with Captain Mamie Reardon.

The 1973 field hockey team exploded on the field with an undefeated record of 8-0-1 . . . "Ralphie" . . . With her strong leadership, Captain Mamie Reardon inspired her team as high scorer with 16 goals. Mrs. Janet Hume displayed her "supa" coaching ability and determination to develop a No. 1 team . . . Psyche! . . . Known for their aggressive and over-all spirit, they were labeled a second half team . . . "Don't Quit!" . . . Fond memories of the Sow Society . . . Zing! . . . feedbags . . . T.C. ladybugs . . . Fu! . . . "FRIENDS".

CROSS COUNTRY

1973 was the finest season for the Cross Country Team in recent history. Under second year Coach Bob McIntyre, the Harriers finished a strong second place with 8 wins and 1 loss, in the Middlesex League Competition.

Powerful Wakefield, last year's state champion, was the only team to knock the Harriers off stride, but this loss was avenged by an upset League meet victory for Melrose.

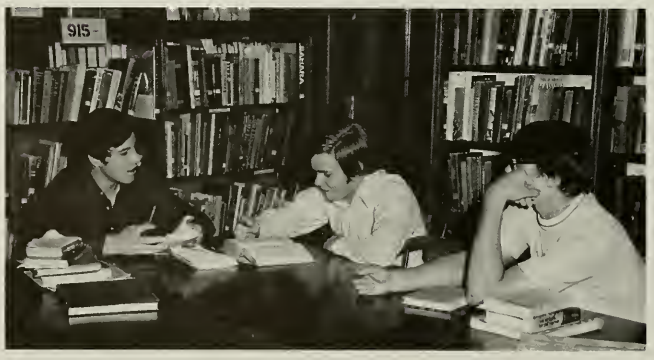
Captains John Tsoukalas and Larry Baldwin and Sophomores Tony Maccarrio and Bruce Wenner gave the team a speedy top four with Neil Hannaford and Ed Ferreira rounding out the top six.

In state competition, at Franklin Park, the team placed second in their class and seventh overall, thus ending a memorable season for the M.H.S. Cross Country runners.

"Good morning, and time for the M.H.S. news."

"Impeachment"

"I'll make you an offer you can't refuse."



". . . and she said, 'Do what you want to do.'"

"So why didn't you tell me it was Easter?"

"Ultra — Brite smiles."

"Sugar Plum Fairies"

"Exorcise the devil out of her."

"We have crunch, almond, or lead."

"On your mark, get set, STREAK!"

"Inflation"

"Everybody knows that smoking ain't allowed in school."

"You want mocha, butter crunch, coffee brandy, chocolate marshmallow ripple, chipper cherry, and VANILLA?"

"I just LOVE these kids."

"Think I can get away with it?"

"No, I'm not on the menu!"

"Right . . . you want all the money in a paper bag!"

"Well-stacked"

"Fresh — that's that way I like 'em."

"No lady, I know the toilet paper wasn't on sale this week!"

"Excuse me, sir, don't I deserve a tip for that?"

"We've got all the sweets you could ask for."
